Robert,

A couple of edits/comments from me are attached. A brief summary:

1. Laws and Regs should have it's own section on the landing page rather than being buried in the sidebar (if they have time to address)
2.

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)
3. It is unclear to me if they have changed the title of the rule. SNUR is only mentioned once, and I am not comfortable with the title, "April 2019 Final Rule Prohibiting Certain Asbestos Products"
4. Also, there is an AA edit to the table I added (remove "note")

Lea

Steve looked at this (thankfully) and only had a couple things. I think we are in good shape on this piece.

FYI—The OCSPP IO is helping out and sent the attached. Not sure if you looked at it, but let me know of any showstoppers.

FYI- I know we are asking to wait until Monday to send the FRN up but we are likely to be asked to get the comms up today for Alex's weekend packet. Although taking another look at the FRN is a good idea, I don't expect any major messaging changes on our end.

As such, Brian, can you look at the Q&As I sent you so we can get these to the IO today? Steve's already reviewed and I incorporated his comments. Linda already did the tic toc, Cheryl did the web edits, the press release is out of our hands-- so this is really all that's left along with any of the web edits we may need to push back on.

Robert –

Per discussion, Cheryl kindly took a first stab at the asbestos web. See attached (and below, for Cheryl's explanation on why she took a certain tact).

Of note: OCSPP comms would love to include asbestos snur comms materials in the weekend binders for Alex. The work on the SNUR should come first (of course), but I suspect you'll see some pressure from that court.

I'm out tomorrow – but Susanna can help secure reviews and move pieces in my absence.

Best,
Alison

Hi Alison – see my web edits attached. Happy to discuss. As I said in our call, I purposefully did not format this info as FAQs so please focus on the content rather than the format for now. Also, I deliberately didn't use the term SNUR as that was super confusing when we released the proposed rule and, when discussed with OPA yesterday, they agreed we should avoid the term. Thanks.
